<sup>2</sup> Apparently, Greeley had returned T's Canada trip manuscript for revision; a month before he had suggested that T divide it into "three or four articles" (see pp. 102 and 103).

May 26, 1852

New York, May 26<sup>a</sup>, 1852

Friend Thoreau:

I duly received your package<sup>1,a</sup> and letter, and immediately handed over the former to C. Bissell,<sup>2</sup> Editor of The Whig Review, asking him to examine it fully, and tell me what he could give for it, which he promised to do. Two or three days afterward, I left for the West without having heard from him. This morning, without having seen your letter, having reached home at 1 o'clock, I went to Bissell at 9, and asked him about the matter. He said he had not read all the MS. but had part of it, and inquired if I would be willing to have him print part and pay for it. I told him I could not consent without consulting you, but would thank him to make me a proposition in writing, which I would send you. He said he would do so very soon, whereupon I left him.

I hope you will acquit me of negligence in the matter, though I ought to have acknowledged the receipt of your package. I did not, simply because I was greatly hurried, trying to get away, and because I momentarily expected some word from Bissell.

Yours,
Horace Greeley.

H. D. Thoreau, Esq.
Concord,
Mass.

Correspondent: See p. 61.

<sup>2</sup> Champion Bissell (1830-1899), son of Josiah and Henrietta Perkins Bissell of Rochester, New York, graduated from Yale in 1850. In 1854 he married Josephine Wales (1832-1919), daughter of John and Anne Patten Wales. Bissell edited the American Whig Review, which was published from January 1845 to December 1852. Its authors included Edgar Allan Poe and James Russell Lowell, as well as Daniel Webster, Edward Everett, and Greeley. Bissell became a lawyer but devoted himself to editorial and literary pursuits.
